Part of a comprehensive master plan for facility upgrades at Chicago's Catholic Theological Union, the new Academic Center provides some much needed space for the ministry and theology graduate school. The building is located in Chicago's Hyde Park neighborhood.

The new 5-story building includes a large assembly space to seat 400, large classrooms and conference rooms, and a large centralized atrium. The second level of the building, designated the Bernardin Conference Center, will host all of CTU's public programs. The school's library will be relocated to the Academic Center's top level.
